CSLS Summer School 2017 – Language and Migration

The Summer School is being organized by the Center for the Study of Language and Society CSLS at the University of Bern. It focuses on different aspects of language and migration: language contact, multilingual interaction, language and identity, discourses about migration, and the effects of researchers' choice of language for their research.

There will be lectures, workshops, and small-group sessions where PhD students will have a chance to present their research and receive feedback from experts in the field as well as from their peers.
